ANTARYA™ BOARDROOM 2.0 OFFERS FULL-FEATURED WEB CONFERENCING AND ONLINE MEETING CAPABILITIES

Internet-ready Web Conferencing application is 100% firewall friendly

Iselin, New Jersey: May 24, 2004

As an emerging provider of online meeting and collaboration solutions, Levare announced today the general availability of Boardroom 2.0. Offered as either a Web conferencing service or server software, Antarya enables users to share documents, applications, presentations and Web content in real time, with anyone, anywhere, anytime.

With this new release, Antarya increases the functionality and performance of web conferencing, and features a Web browser-based user interface for both participants and hosts. Users only need an Internet connection and a browser along with their meeting ID number to start or join a session. Users can easily access Web-based conferencing session using a secure email invitation shortcut or the designed URL. In addition, Antarya™ Boardroom uses standard Internet communications (HTTP via Port 80 or 443), reducing the need for IT resources for managing network issues relating to the deployment and use of Antarya BoardRoom. Antarya Boardroom 2.0 offers faster remote application sharing and new enhancements. Meeting hosts can easily share presenting responsibilities with other participants with the click of a button. Faster application and desktop sharing help meetings stay on track and save time. New features include URL pushing, which directs users to specific web pages and Request Desktop Share, a request-permission capability for remote PC helpdesk troubleshooting and software problem resolution.

Pricing and Availability

Antarya Boardroom Version 2.0 is available immediately. Several individual, corporate and service provider pricing plans are available. Software licensing, VAR and OEM options are available, as well as custom web portal integration and professional services. Please contact Levare for custom pricing information.
